5 HABITS THAT GET YOU NOTICED

How to Get Replies from Companies

1 Apply fast — within 1–2 hours

Most HRs shortlist the first replies they get. Apply within 1–2 hours of a role being posted — this matters more than anything else.

2 Apply to every role that fits

Don't stop at 1 or 2 applications. Apply to every relevant role that matches your skills — more applications mean more calls.

3 Write a clear subject line

- Use this format: Application for [Role Name] – [Your Name]
- Example: Application for Data Analyst – Rohan Sharma

4 Follow the post's instructions

If the job post asks for a specific subject line or format, use exactly that — HRs often filter mails by it.

5 Keep your email short

- Mention your relevant skills and experience in 3–4 lines.
- Attach your resume (PDF, named YourName_Role_Resume.pdf).
- Add your links — LinkedIn, GitHub, portfolio.

NOTE

Referral openings close fast. We regularly post referral openings at big companies on FirstOffer, and many close within 2–3 hours. Check the Internal HR section daily so you never miss one.

FINAL ADVICE

Do this daily for 8–10 days — replies will start coming.

And remember: apply within 1–2 hours of a role being posted.
